QUAKERTOWN, PA (7 November 2011)

Members of the American Bankers

Association, including Dave Freeman,

President and Chief Operating Officer of QNB Bank (QNB) and his wife Arden, gathered in a new San Antonio community recently to build a Habitat for Humanity home for a family in need. With support from the Texas Bankers Association and the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas, as well as donations from bankers across the country the ABA Housing Partners Foundation built its eleventh home.

“The banking industry came together to build a home for Lorena Magdaleno and her four daughters,” said Mr. Freeman. “Arden and I were honored to have been a part of the effort and look forward to a continuing commitment from my bank and others across the country.” The home was built in Coleman Ridge, a new development that will be composed entirely of Habitat homes and include a newly constructed elementary school. The previous ten homes were built in New Orleans, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Washington, Orlando, Fla., San Diego, Chicago and Boston. Overall, ABA members have contributed $1.9 million and dedicated more than 5,000 volunteer hours.

The foundation’s mission is to promote and provide affordable housing in all communities, specifically those cities that host ABA’s Annual Convention. Supported entirely by donations, the foundation has been making a difference for 20 years. Learn more about the ABA Housing Partners Foundation and make your contribution by visiting their website.

QNB is an $875 million community bank that offers commercial and retail banking services through nine branch offices serving portions of Bucks, Montgomery and Lehigh counties. For more information on QNB, visit the bank web site at www.qnbbank.com.
